CITY TO FIGHT FOR PLACE ON PRIMARY ROAD

Commercial Club Protests Plan to Sidetrack West Half of Old Trails Route.

OTHER COUNTIES TO AID

Meeting of Cross-State Highway Representatives Is Proposed—to Carry Matter to Legislature.

John M. Malang, head of the Missouri State Highway Board will not be permitted to put Columbia and the western half of the Old Trails road arbitrarily on a secondary road basis without a vigorous protest.

The directors of the Columbia Commercial Club decided this at a luncheon at the Daniel Boone Tavern today when they adopted a motion requesting a state convention of the Missouri Old Trails Association to be held in Columbia in the near future. This convention will plan to place before the next Legislature the rights and claims of the Old Trails road to be classed as the official cross-state route, connecting Kansas City and St. Louis as part of the primary road system planned under the $60,000,000 bond issue.

The club directors' meeting today was called after members had read of Malang's proposed plan for building state roads under the bond issue authorized at the recent election. For a primary road across the state from Kansas City to St. Louis, Malang selects the Old Trails route from St. Louis as far as Fulton, and then would have the road run through Jefferson City along the southern route.

Malang and the State Highway Board, of course, do not have this matter to determine. The system of roads to be built and the manner in which the money is to be spent rests with the Legislature. But to forestall action on the part of the Legislature that might result from the State Highway Board's influence, the Columbia business men desire to have the Old Trails counties get together and watch the interests of their highway.

Senator Frank G. Harris, Col. J. A. Hudson, Representative Sidney Rollins, Dr. W. P. Dysart and Frank L. Martin, secretary of the Missouri Old Trails Association, attended the meeting. Mr. Martin read to the directors copies of letters that J. M. Lowe of Kansas City, president of the National Old Trails Association, has written to Malang and other members of the board. In these letters he cited the unfairness of Malang's proposed system and intimated that his association would go over the head of the board and carry the matter to the Legislature. In addition to many other reasons, Judge Lowe called attention to the fact that the Old Trails route had already been selected as the official cross-state route and that this action, taken years ago, must stand.

The club directors passed a motion requesting Mr. Martin to get authority of E. W. Stephens, president of the Missouri Old Trails Association, now in Florida, to call a convention of the association in Columbia. Mr. Martin will also confer with Mr. Lowe as to a date and other plans. The meeting will be held as soon as possible and will be attended by delegates from each of the eleven counties on the route.

The directors also authorized Frank B. Rollins, president of the Commercial Club, to name a committee of fifteen members to arrange for the meeting and to assist in every way in helping the association in getting the primary road through Columbia.

MAY NOT PLAY WASHINGTON

St. Louis School Demands Too Much, Says Clevenger.

Washington probably will not be on the Missouri football schedule next fall. Z. C. Clevenger, director of athletics, said today that Washington officials would not accept November 5 unless Missouri would grant unusual concessions, guarantee a later date in future years, and also a guarantee of $25,000 for games in Columbia. Other conference contracts call for guarantees of $1,000 to $1,200.

TARIFF BILL TO THE SENATE

House Measure Would Stop Importation of Farm Products.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Democratic leaders plan to delay the emergency tariff bill until it is lost among necessary appropriation bills, they said today.

The bill was shoved through the House last night by a combination of western and southern members.

Fined in Police Court.

Raymond Robinson was fined $1 and costs for speeding and running with cut-out open by Judge M. L. Edwards in the Police Court today.

THE WEATHER

For Columbia and vicinity: Some cloudiness but generally fair tonight and Friday, colder tonight, continued cold Friday and Saturday. Lowest temperature tonight 8 or 10 above zero.

For Missouri: Generally fair tonight and Friday; colder tonight. Shipper's forecast: Within a radius of 200 miles of Columbia the lowest temperature during the next 36 hours will be west 4; north 8; east 14, and south 10.

The storm center has traveled to the lower Lakes and St. Lawrence Valley. Heavy rain has been general along the Atlantic seaboard and snows continue in the Lake region; light snows also have been general in the Mississippi Valley south into Arkansas and east to Ohio.

The cold wave now has overspread all the territory lying between the Rocky Mountains and Mississippi River; temperatures range from about 26 below zero in Montana to 24 above in Central Texas.

Missouri highways are rough in spots but otherwise traveling is fair to good.

EARTHQUAKE IN CENTRAL CHINA

Shocks in Kansy Kill 2,000—Missourian Fund Reaches $280.50.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 22 (delayed).—Two thousand lives were lost in an earthquake in the isolated province of Kansy, according to reports here today. The shocks were still continuing at last reports.

The town of Peng Liang and several surrounding villages were reported wrecked. Rescue work was carried on with great difficulty because of the isolation of the province. Kansy is in the famine district.

The above United Press story tells how the horrors of the Chinese famine are being added to by earthquakes. This furnishes an additional reason why Columbians should contribute to the China Relief Fund.

The following letter from the Literary Digest gives the attitude that one man took when confronted with the problem of giving his children enjoyment or of saving the lives of two children.

"I was about to read 'The Slaughter of the Innocents' when suddenly my little 3-year-old boy came hurrying into my office, his cheeks flushed with emotion, holding in his hand an open book and yelling, 'Daddy, I want Santa to bring me a little antelope just like this, pointing to the picture in the catalog. I began checking over my bank account to see if I should afford to buy it for him and naturally I found that I could, for all we fathers are millionaires under circumstances like this. Then I turned and read the appeal for food and clothes for the little ones across the sea and the question came to me, Can I or have I the right to invest $20 in a toy for my child when it will save the lives of two other children? When confronted with a question like this, my duty is clear.' And so he sent in the $20 to the Literary Digest Child-Feeding Fund.

The same situation applies to the China Relief Fund.

USUAL DELIVERIES SATURDAY

Mail Carriers Will Be Busy on Christmas Day.

The regular deliveries of both parcel post and regular mail matter will be made Christmas Day, according to L. J. Hall, postmaster. No additional carriers have been employed to take care of the Christmas mail. According to Mr. Hall, the increase of holiday mail this year is about in proportion to the general increase of business over last year.

Student Exodus Is Over.

The exodus of students going home to spend the Christmas vacation is practically over now. For the last few days all the trains leaving Columbia were crowded with students who had completed their examinations, but the traffic today was getting back to normal. Most of the students who had examinations yesterday, which was the last day for examinations, left yesterday afternoon or this morning.

Christ was given a verdict of $111.20.

George Christ is suing Moscow Brothers and A. E. Cassidy for a bill for making the repairs on the plate glass window of the Polyanna Chocolate Shop, which was broken when a car backed into it. The case is being tried before L. T. Seary and a jury of six men in the Probate Court room.

SCHOOLS GIVE PROGRAMS ON CLOSING DAYS

Plays, Songs and Christmas Tree Exercises Given by Columbia Children Yesterday and Today.

ACTORS IN FIRST GRADE

Youngsters at Grant School Act Parts in "The Christmas Spirit" Before Other Pupils.

The last day of school before the Christmas holidays is a red letter day for the grade and high schools. The Columbia schools celebrated it yesterday and today with Christmas songs, plays, trees and readings.

At Grant School this morning, the first grade gave a play, "The Christmas Spirit" before the entire school. The other grades had programs and trees in their own rooms.

The Jefferson School had an assembly this morning at which a program was given by the pupils from all the grades. This afternoon, the seventh grade gave a play, "Our Christmas Guest," which was written by one of the seventh-grade pupils. This was not open to the public but invitations were issued to the teachers and officials of the school.

The first three grades of the Lee School combined in a program consisting of songs, recitations and games. The fourth and fifth grades gave a Christmas play and had songs and readings, as did the sixth and seventh grades also. Each of the three groups had a Christmas tree, at which every child received a gift.

The regular Christmas program at Eugene Field School was given last week before the Mothers' Club; so informal exercises were held in the different rooms.

Yesterday, the University Elementary School had a large Christmas tree lighted by electric lights representing Santa Claus, birds and other figures. The children encircled the tree and gave their program around it. The program consisted of a song, "The Toys' March," a dramatization of Joseph and His Brothers; a hush-a-by song of the doll; a Japanese song by three little girls in costume; a play "The Giant's Christmas"; two dances, "The Dance of the Fairies" and a ballroom dance; a song, "Shine Out, O Blessed Star"; a group of piano solos; a vocal duet, "Santa Claus So Jolly"; a play, "Three Christmas Trees"; and numbers by the kindergarten orchestra which consists of tamborines, triangles, drums, bells, horns and flappers. After the program, candy was distributed to the children.

Cyril Coggins took the part of Santa Claus in the Columbia High School Christmas program this morning. He presented a piece of sausage to the superintendent, W. I. Oliver, because he likes country "sausage." To Miss Sadie Stein, the principal, he gave chewing gum because that was her "favorite sport." Miss Frances Corlew was given a rolling pin. She is to be married Christmas and this was considered one of the first essentials. Various presents were given to the students, freckle cream, an automobile, a truck, a bone to the chief bone-puller, etc.

The program was opened with cartoons by Harold Streeter. Miss Willie Crews gave some recitations. The program was closed by singing of Christmas carols by the senior chorus. The following were the songs: "When Jesus Came Down on That First Christmas Day"; "Flow Gently Sweet Afton"; and "Silent Night, Holy Night."

Nearly 100 persons attended the Christmas program given by grades one to four at the Benton School at 9:30 o'clock this morning. The program opened with a Christmas lullaby sung by a chorus from grades three and four. This was followed by a play entitled "The Toy Celebration."

toys with delight, the third and fourth grade sang "Santa," the final song of the play.

The first and second grade part of the program consisted of a dialogue by children in costume, telling of Christmas customs in many lands at the request of Grace Owen acting as fairy godmother to Don Katz and Grace Smith, two little children who wanted to see Christmas in other countries. The descriptions of Christmas in different countries were mixed with songs. Irma Nichols took the part of the girl from France, Leon Stewart told of Christmas in Germany, Elizabeth McGuire in Norway, Majnoe Thorsen in Sweden, Juanita Mellone in Denmark, Virgie Kile in Serbia, Ralph Hawkins in England, Taylor McElaine in Mexico and Minnie Gordon said that Christmas was unknown in Japan. Naomi Baster, as the Spirit of Christmas, told the little girl from Japan why we have Christmas and the program was closed with a song, "Away in a Manger." The children then gathered around beautifully decorated Christmas trees to receive their presents.

The fifth, sixth, and seventh grades of the Benton School gave their Christmas program at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

LOCAL ARTIST PAINTS SANTA

Two Years Ago His Picture Pleased the Children of France.

Have you seen the six-foot Santa Claus in Fredendall's window? Just two years ago the French children of the town of Naix were looking with open mouth awe at just such another American Santa Claus. Both Santas were painted by Dan C. Steckdaub—two years ago, a soldier with the 350th Infantry and now living at 239 Sanford place.

Two years ago the 350th Infantry decided to give a real American Christmas to the French children in their area. Three women were sent to Paris with money contributed by the soldiers of the outfit and there they bought shoes, clothing and other gifts for the children. On Christmas Eve three barracks were decorated in American Christmas style and the regiment gave the biggest Christmas party of the war to the little Naix and Yvonnes of Naix. The central feature of the decoration was the huge six-foot Santa Claus painted by Dan C. Steckdaub.

Before he entered the army, Mr. Steckdaub was a student in the Chicago Fine Arts Institute. After Christmas he expects to enter the University and continue his art work here.

$1,100 RAISED FOR CHARITY

Reports From All but Seven Committees Show Campaign Is Lagging.

With reports from four of the eleven committees that are canvassing the business district of Columbia and all of the twenty-eight women's committees that were assigned to the residence districts, M. F. Thurston, temporary treasurer of the charity drive, said that $1,100 has been raised by the Columbia Charity Organization. The quota for this year is $3,500.

"The organization has eliminated traps from Columbia," said Frank B. Rollins in speaking of the work of the society. According to Mr. Rollins, when a tramp applies to a Columbian for help he is generally referred to the field secretary of the organization, and a thorough investigation is made before assistance is given.

Tramps never care to have their cases investigated; so they do not patronize Columbia. The organization always gives real help to the deserving.

TOYS FOR CITY CHILDREN

W. C. T. U. Collects Christmas Gifts to Send to St. Louis.

By the local W. C. T. U. and sent to about thirty toys have been collected their station in St. Louis where English is taught to foreign mothers. The children learn English at school and the fathers learn it as they go out to work, but the mothers who stay at home have no way to learn it except through this station which is run under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. The idea is to teach them enough English to enable them to shop efficiently. The toys collected are to be distributed to these needy alien mothers to give to their children on Christmas.

HARDING CONSIDERS CABINET

Hughes and Hoover Probable Members—Knox and Root Less Likely.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Conferences with Fred W. Upham, Chicago; Myron T. Herrick, Ohio, former ambassador to France; and Harry W. Daugherty, Ohio, were on the schedule of President-elect Harding today.

Matters of the Cabinet were expected to be uppermost in today's conferences. The names of Charles E. Hughes for Secretary of State and Herbert Hoover for Secretary of Commerce or probably Secretary of the Interior are known to stand high on the prospective list of President-elect Harding.

There appeared less probability today of either Senator Knox or Elihu Root going into the Cabinet than at any previous time.

FROM $1.75 A WEEK TO $6,000 A YEAR IS RECORD OF STUDENT

The story of the rise of a former student of the School of Journalism from a salary of $1.75 a week delivering papers for the Evening Missourian, to an annual salary of $6,000 and a part interest in an advertising agency was told recently by A. C. ("Tex.") Bayless, a graduate of the School of Journalism and formerly business manager of the Missourian. Mr. Bayless, whose home is in Houston, Tex., has been visiting in Columbia.

This former student, Dale Rogers, was a student in advertising about five years ago at the time when Mr. Bayless was business manager. He carried one of the regular routes for the Missourian, and also worked for his board and lodging. He did not receive his degree here, but left school to take a position in his home town, Springfield, Mo., being connected with the advertising department of the Springfield Leader. He then went to Houston, Tex., taking a position with the Hughes Tool Company at a salary of $115 a month, which after six months was raised to $175.

After that he took a position in Kansas City, received a salary there of $225. A year later he returned to Houston to enter the employ of the Reed Roller Bit Company at a salary of $400, which was soon raised to $450. Mr. Rogers is now back with the Hughes Tool Company, receiving $6,000 a year as advertising manager and has a fourth interest in a new advertising agency which was recently established in Houston.

The last bill paid for these patients was $6,543.80, which will support them until January 1, 1921.

In addition to the sixty-eight county patients, there are a good many patients who are supported by private funds. The number in the asylum from Boone County is a good deal larger than would be expected from comparison with other counties, according to Prosecuting Attorney George Starrett.

TEXANS LYNCH MAN CHARGED WITH MURDER

Victim Said to Have Killed Policeman Who Tried to Arrest Him After Shooting Scrape.

ACCUSED ONCE BEFORE

Man Hanged Last Night Had Married Widow of Man Whose Death Was Laid at His Door.

By United Press.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 23.—From a tree in the shade of which he played in childhood hung the bullet-riddled body this morning of Tom Vickery, 30 years of age, charged with killing Policeman Jeff C. Couch Monday night.

Vickery's body was left dangling at the end of a rope by a mob of men who dragged him from the jail last midnight and hanged him.

The chief mourner is his wife, who was the widow of a man whom Vickery is also charged with having killed in 1917. Vickery had never been brought to trial. Masked and perfectly organized, about twenty-five men entered the county jail at midnight. About twelve of them leveled revolvers at the night jailer and demanded his prisoner. A score of men went to Vickery's cell and dragged him to a waiting automobile, parked with three others in front of the jail building.

Vickery, clad only in a white shirt, flannel trousers and socks, begged for his life. The members of the mob made no reply. Only a few words were spoken during the entire procedure.

The four automobiles carried the prisoner and his executioners to a grove of trees about a mile away. Vickery was arrested Monday night and charged with killing Policeman Couch in a garage after resisting arrest for shooting at another man while intoxicated. It was while Couch was walking to a telephone to call the patrol wagon that Vickery shot him in the back, according to witnesses. Couch died instantly.

Following the shooting a wave of indignation swept over the city but no suspicion that a lynching would occur entered the minds of the authorities.
